Thinks Public Would Pay for More Services

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said here Monday night that people don't want a tax increase, but "they are willing to pay more if they are assured of getting the necessary services."

The Governor has said he would call a special legislative session for late this year or early next year and has indicated that tax increases would be among the items to be considered.

"I don't have to tell you that insurance rates and college and university costs are going up," he said. "You know they are and it's because we're not providing state services to protect you."

Rockefeller also criticized some of the facilities at the University of Arkansas, saying, "I don't know how they get professors to teach at all in some of those facilities."

The governor, when discussing the possibility of a tax increase, said the legislature "must face the fact that we are one of 50 states in the competitive world and the competition for good people is just unbelievable."

"We've got good people of our own and we've got to keep them and we've got to attract others," he said.

The governor was at Hot Springs to address the Ozark Appalachia Conference on Adult Basic Education.

Lawyer Hired in Move to Oust Gattin

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Steele Hayes, a Little Rock lawyer, was hired Monday by the Pulaski County Board of Education to advise the board on a petition asking for the removal of Leroy Gattin from the Pulaski County School Board.

Gattin was fired a school superintendent June 30 and later was appointed to the board on a 2-1 vote.

Eugene R. Warren filed the petition asking that Gattin be replaced on behalf of Mrs. Gladys Briscoe.

Warren also filed a petition on behalf of Mrs. Pat Masher last week against Pulaski County Judge Frank Mackey to do the same thing. Mackey has scheduled a hearing on that petition for Wednesday. Mrs. Masher is a member of the county school board.

Warren also represents Dr. Dale Cowling, another county board member, in a suit in Chancery Court seeking a court order to remove Gattin.

speeches I've ever heard. . . . But I think it's pretty much the same we've been getting. I don't believe the majority of the American people have the patience to wait until the South Vietnamese supposedly are capable of taking over."

"I was not disappointed," said Capt. John Kelly, 35, Waterford, Mass., a member of the 1st Infantry Division at Di An, north of Saigon. "I didn't expect any earth-shaking announcement. I didn't think he should give a withdrawal schedule. This would be aid and comfort to the enemy."

Spokesmen for three antiwar groups called Nixon's Vietnam speech a disappointment and said it will serve only to increase the protests.

They represented the New Mobilization Committee, the Vietnam Moratorium Committee and the Committee on Vietnam Policy.

Fulbright, however, deferred comment pending a study of Nixon's text.

McGovern accused Nixon of pursuing the "same tired old discredited policy we have followed to the death of 40,000 young Americans." Muskie said Nixon's plan "leaves the decision as to American withdrawal in Saigon and Hanoi rather than in Washington."

In Minneapolis, former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said he was disappointed Nixon announced no new troop withdrawals and failed to call for a cease-fire.

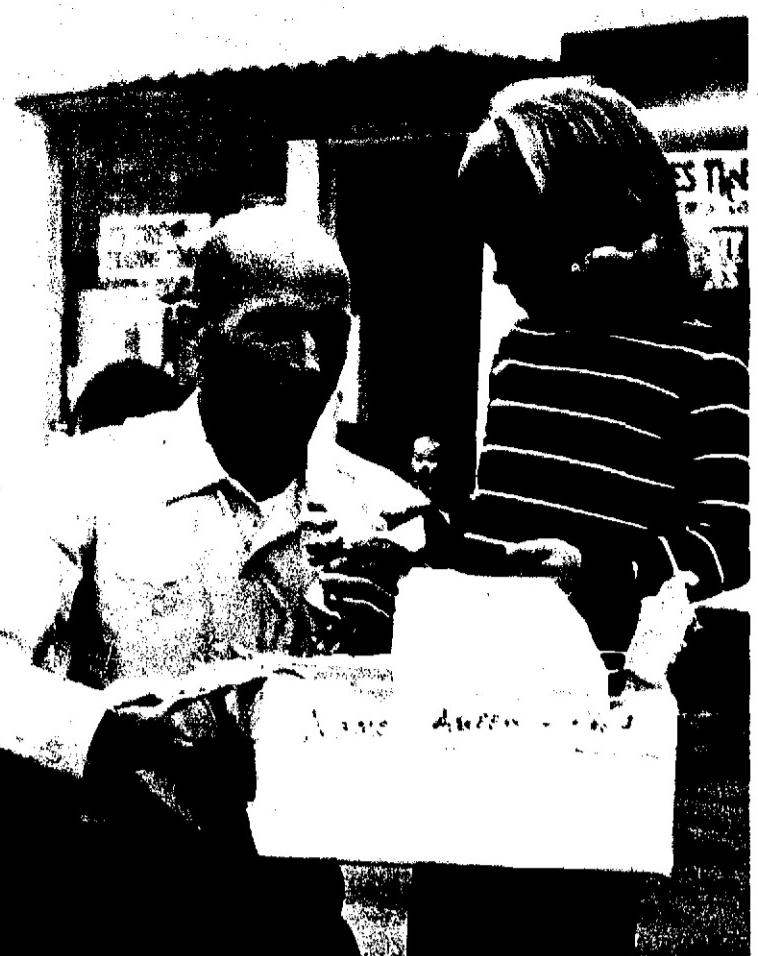

President Nguyen Van Thieu had no immediate comment on the speech. But White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the administration had "full and complete consultation" with the South Vietnamese government on the speech and the latter was "in agreement with its contents."

There was some disappointment among political opponents of Thieu who had hoped Nixon would call for speedier action on such programs as land reform. But in general there was support and acceptance for the speech in Saigon political circles.

"We particularly welcomed President Nixon's emphasis that troop withdrawals must be made in proportion to the strengthening of the Vietnamese armed forces," said lawyer Tran Van Tuyen, member of an old-line party that nominally supports the government.

A member of the opposition forces said the speech would strengthen the Thieu government internally.

Highlights of Nixon's Policy Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are textual highlights of President Nixon's Vietnam policy speech:

"We can persist in our search for a just peace through a negotiated settlement if possible, or through continued implementation of our plan for Vietnamization if necessary—a plan in which we will withdraw all of our forces from Vietnam on a schedule in accordance with our program, as the South Vietnamese become strong enough to defend their own freedom."

"I have chosen this course. It is not the easy way. It is the right way."

In speaking of the consequences of a precipitate withdrawal, I mentioned that our allies would lose confidence in America.

Far more dangerous, we would lose confidence in ourselves. The immediate reaction would be a sense of relief as our men came home. But as we saw the consequences of what we had done, inevitable remorse and divisive recrimination would scar our spirit as a people.

For the future of peace, precipitate withdrawal would thus be a disaster of immense magnitude....

In order to end a war fought on many fronts, I initiated a pursuit for peace on many fronts.

"We have offered the complete withdrawal of all outside forces within one year.

"We have proposed a ceasefire under international supervision.

"We have offered free elections under international supervision with the Communists participating in the organization and conduct of the elections as an organized political force. The Saigon Government has pledged to accept the result of the election.

Hanoi has refused even to discuss our proposals. They demand our unconditional acceptance of their terms; that we withdraw all American forces immediately and unconditionally and that we overthrow the government of South Vietnam as we leave....

The effect of all the public, private and secret negotiations which have been undertaken since the bombing halt a year ago and since this administration came into office on January 20, can be summed up in one sentence—

No progress whatever has been made except agreement on the shape of the bargaining table.

It has become clear that the obstacle in negotiating an end to the war . . . the other side's absolute refusal to show the least willingness to join us in seeking just peace. It will not do so while it is convinced that all it has to do is to wait for our next concession, and the next until it gets everything it wants.

I have not and do not intend to announce the timetable for our withdrawal program.

Announcement of a fixed timetable for our withdrawal would completely remove any incentive for the enemy to negotiate an agreement.

They would simply wait until our forces had withdrawn and then move in.

The other two factors on which we will base our withdrawal decisions are the level of enemy activity and the progress of the training program of the South Vietnamese forces. Progress on both these fronts has been greater than we anticipated when we started the withdrawal program in June. As a result, our timetable for withdrawal is more optimistic now than when we made our first estimates in June.

Along with this optimistic estimate, I must—in all candor—leave one note of caution.

If the level of enemy activity significantly increases we might have to adjust our timetable accordingly.

I have chosen a plan for peace. I believe it will succeed.

If it does succeed, what the critics say now will not matter. If it does not succeed, anything I say then will not matter.

And so tonight—to you, the great silent majority of my fellow Americans—I ask for your support.

A weak surface trough lies in an east-west position across northern Texas and into southern Arkansas, which is feeding showers now in the state.

As the area of unstable air continues slowly eastward, the skies should begin to clear and allow a slow warming trend. It will, however, not be too noticeable before Thursday.

Freezing temperatures are again likely over the northern one-half of the state tonight after cool 40-degree afternoon readings today.

Overnight lows included 26 at Fayetteville, 32 at Harrison, 36 at Jonesboro, 42 at Pine Bluff, 40 at Memphis, .01 at Little Rock, .04 at Texarkana, .05 at El Dorado, .02 at Blytheville and a trace at Harrison.

But 10 Democratic war critics in the House, expressing discouragement, predicted "opposition to the President's course will grow despite his efforts to discredit the opposition."

A member of the opposition forces said the speech would strengthen the Thieu government internally.

A member of the opposition forces said the speech would strengthen the Thieu government internally.

Johnson Also Against Forced Membership

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Jim Johnson of Conway, a former state Supreme Court Justice, filed a statement Monday opposing compulsory membership in the Arkansas Bar Association.

The court had set Monday as the deadline for lawyers to file their views on the proposal, authored by the Executive Committee of the Arkansas Bar Association.

Johnson called the proposal an unlawful delegation of the powers of the Supreme Court.

He said the proposal "looks reasoning and in light of actual experience in more than 30 other jurisdictions, the unification of the Bar of Arkansas, with its democratic representative structure, its protection and preservation of the rights and privileges of every licensed lawyer, and the retained control, approval and veto role of the Supreme Court, is not only proper and appropriate, but is highly desirable, primarily for the public and secondarily for the profession," Lindsey said.

Skeptical of Leukemia Breakthrough

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Some cancer experts in the United States are skeptical about an announcement by a British research team of "one of the biggest breakthroughs in cancer research in 20 years."

But they agree that it brings nearer the day when leukemia may be cured.

The British scientists, working at Royal Beatson Hospital in Glasgow, Scotland, said Sunday that a virus that causes leukemia in cats had been made to grow in human cell tissues.

"Having this virus isolated means that finding a cure is now a matter of hard slogging," Dr. Robert Williamson of Glasgow said, after announcing the "breakthrough."

But Dr. Leon Dmochowski of Houston, chairman of the department of Biology at the University of Texas and an adviser to the Leukemia Society of America, said the Glasgow finding was "hardly a great breakthrough."

Dmochowski said, however, that it would "serve as a stimulus" to leukemia research.

Al Davis, science editor of the American Cancer Society, said the Britishers were "exaggerating a little bit in terms of its real significance." He said they should not have mentioned the word "cure" in the announcement.

BIG ATTACKS

(from page one) campaign idea, a low level of action with periodic peaks, as opposed to a sustained offensive. I think President Nixon is thinking in those terms."

The attacks were the heaviest since the night of Sept. 5-6, when the enemy shelled more than 100 bases and towns and launched several ground attacks. This was during the final "highpoint" of the enemy's fall campaign.

A spokesman for the U.S. Command, noting that the night's attacks were not countrywide, termed them a "high-point" in the 3rd Corps area, which includes Saigon and the 11 provinces around it.

He said the proposal "looks suspiciously like an insidious scheme to induce this court, in a practical sense, to surrender its power and abandon its responsibilities, not just to another department of government, but to a private association of lawyers (not all the lawyers, to be sure, but a certain clique of lawyers whose motives are by no means perfectly understood.)"

"We have refused to compel the working man to join labor organizations, though it would seem to be to his own benefit to join," Johnson said. "We have refused to compel men to go to church. We have refused to compel men to salute the flag. But, now we are about to compel lawyers to

Texarkana B Boys Down Local Squad

By RALPH ROUTON
Star Sportswriter

Two second-quarter touch-downs paved the way as the Texarkana Arkansas High "B" squad downed the Hope "B" Lizards 27-8 last night at Texarkana's Burkman Field.

The loss dropped the Lizards' record to 1-6 for the season, with the finale coming up next Monday at home against the Magnolia Panthers. But last night was the introduction to high school football for those Bobkittens who moved up after their school closed last Thursday night.

On the first possession Hope moved to the Texarkana five before being pushed back and held on downs, and the Razorbacks drove 30 yards after a fumble recovery for their first TD late in the first quarter.

Arkansas High tore loose in the second segment, scoring twice after Hope errors and driving inside the five once before the Lizards halted them on downs.

Their final score came midway in the third period, on the third six-pointer by HB Dickie Watts on runs of 4, 14, and 5 yards.

Quarterback Buddy Ingram, forced into action when Tommy Frazier pinched a nerve in his throwing arm, threw a 25-yard pass to David Johnson late in the contest to set up Hope's only score, a four-yard carry by Johnson. Ingram then passed to end Clifton Pevey for the two extra points to wrap up the scoring.

It would be easy for the Hope Bobcats to suffer a letdown mentally this week after beating Magnolia and Camden convincingly, but Camden Lincoln is finally in position to surprise a league header, as they play Hope and Arkadelphia the next two weeks.

Hope wants to be impressive at home Friday night against the 1-7 Lincoln squad, but without the risk of injury or the possibility of a wet field, it could be taken as a good chance to look good for the home fans before next week's Homecoming game against the oncoming Nashville Scappers, now 5-3 for the year.

Get QB Day in Pro Grid Play Sunday

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Sunday must have been "get the quarterback" day in the National Football League. The passer was on his back, thrown while trying to pass, 48 times in eight games.

Minnesota set the pace by smearing the Chicago Bears' quarterbacks nine times. Chicago, in turn, got the Vikings passer five times.

As might be expected the only game in which neither team reached the quarterback all day was the 51-42 affair in St. Louis where New Orleans won its first game and they set record with 12 touchdown passes.

Cleveland got to Craig Morton and Roger Staubach six times, forced three interceptions and also recovered three Dallas fumbles in another nightmare visit to Lake Erie by the defeated Cowboys.

Hall High Jumps Into First Spot

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — It didn't take long to figure out what team would be No. 1 in this week's Associated Press poll.

The results of Friday night's contest between Little Rock Hall and Fort Smith Northside made the decision quite clear—Hall 14, Northside 7.

Northside had entered the game with the No. 1 ranking and an unbeaten streak that stretched back to 1966. Hall was ranked No. 2.

This week, they reversed positions. Hall was a unanimous choice of the 12 sportswriters and sportscasters who participated. Northside was second on 10 of the 12 ballots.

Springdale, the leader in Class AAA West, remains third after edge Fort Smith Southside 8-0. Little Rock Central, idle last week, moved up a notch to fourth.

Jonesboro, ranked fourth last week, and El Dorado, sixth-ranked last week, were beaten. Jonesboro dropped a 20-7 decision to Newport and El Dorado lost 21-0 to Texarkana.

As a result Jonesboro dropped to eighth and El Dorado fell out of the top 10.

Little Rock Catholic moved up from a tie for seventh to fifth place. Unbeaten Arkadelphia, tied with Catholic last week, climbed to sixth. Texarkana moved up from tenth to seventh.

A pair of once-beaten teams, Class AA Newport and Class AAA West Memphis, tied for the No. 9 spot.

Arkadelphia, McGehee and Murfreesboro continue to pace the AA, A and B rankings respectively.

In AA, Rogers defeated Harrison and took over the No. 3 spot in the rankings. Newport moved up from third to second. In Class B, unbeaten Stamps replaced Luxora in second and Luxora fell to third.

Won't Forget Carrying Bag for Palmer

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
HONOLULU, Hawaii (AP) — Notes from the PGA tournament trail:

Mike Reasor, a rookie pro, recently was recalling one of his most important assignments as a caddy.

He toted the bag for Arnold Palmer in the U.S. Open in San Francisco in 1966 when Palmer lost a seven stroke lead with nine holes to play, was tied by Billy Casper and eventually lost to Buffalo Bill in an 18 hole playoff.

"I'll never forget that," Reasor said. "But I guess he (Palmer) won't either."

"Everytime he sees me, I'm sure he thinks of it. Sometimes it makes me feel kind of embarrassed."

"There's something not too many people know about his (Palmer's) tournament. When we came to the 17th on the last day, he left a putt just that (Reasor put two fingers a fraction of an inch apart) short. You couldn't have gotten a knife between the ball and the hole."

"And, do you know, that was the first time in 70 holes that he had left a putt short? First time in 70 holes."

Steve Spray admits his name is a bit unfortunate for a golfer. "Sure, I spray sometimes," the young man from Iowa said. "Everybody does sometimes. But it's not one of my big faults."

There are some rumors—entirely unsubstantiated so far—that the Sahara Invitational in Las Vegas, one of the oldest of the fall tournaments, may drop off the schedule next year.

This year's event was termed "an artistic success" by one tournament official. The galleries were relatively small, however. But that isn't a major consideration for host Del Webb.

Reports are that the golfing public is concerned about the gambling atmosphere in Las Vegas and a possible blemish to the game's image.

Jack Nicklaus, not yet 30 but with little left to prove in the world of golf, admittedly is gunning primarily for the big four tournaments now, the U.S. and British Opens, the PGA and the Masters.

He's taken seven of those major titles, the same as Arnold Palmer, and two fewer than Ben Hogan.

Discussing swings, styles of play, etc., leading money winner Frank Beard offered this opinion:

"The two best strikers of a golf ball alive today are Gene Littler and Dave Hill."

LINDSEY IS

tive between the candidates. Cahill is a six-term congressman seeking to win for the GOP the last major industrial state still governed by a Democrat.

The Democratic incumbents in Virginia and New Jersey were by state law ineligible for re-election. Republicans now control 30 of the nation's state houses.

In New York, the dovish Lindsay has stressed his opposition to the war in opening his lines to liberal blocs once disenchanted with his administration.

Mario A. Procaccino, the city controller and Democratic nominee, at first criticized the mayor's Vietnam position. But as Lindsay battled back from an early deficit in campaign polls, Procaccino vowed that as mayor he would demand an end to the conflict.

John J. Marchi, a state senator from Staten Island, wrested the Republican nomination from Lindsay in a primary election. Marchi, who also carried the endorsement of the Conservative party, sided with President Nixon's policy.

Lindsay, running as an Independent and Liberal, is rated a 5-2 favorite to win and restore the lustre to his standing as a leader of national importance.

He remains a member of the national Republican party, but politicians can only guess how a man once rated a future GOP presidential prospect will choose to chart his political future.

Campaigns in two other major cities, Cleveland and Detroit, involve Negro candidates.

Mayor Carl B. Stokes, who narrowly won election in Cleveland two years ago to become the first black mayor of a major city, faces a tight contest with Republican Ralph J. Perk.

Israeli in Warning to Lebanon

By MARCUS ELIASON
Associated Press Writer

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli officials warned Lebanon today to expect speedy retaliation for any Arab guerrilla attacks launched from Lebanese soil as a result of the new agreement between the Lebanese government and guerrilla chief Yasir Arafat.

Officials said Israel will not tolerate increased terrorism along its northern border as a result of the agreement announced in Cairo Monday night. Arafat and Gen. Emile Bustani, the Lebanese army commander, said in a communique that they had agreed on all issues. Reliable sources said the commandos would be allowed to operate freely in some parts of Lebanon.

Sources in Jerusalem said following top-level meetings Monday night, the Israeli government conveyed its views to various other governments for them to transmit to the Lebanese.

For the first time since the Lebanese army and the Arab commandos began fighting two weeks ago, an attack from Lebanon against Israel was reported. The Israeli military command said one rocket was fired across the border early today and that it damaged one wall of a building in a border settlement in Upper Galilee and broke several windows. There were no casualties.

Despite the peace agreement announced from Cairo and a cease-fire that went into effect 24 hours earlier, gunfire and explosions were heard early today in the south Lebanon oil port of Sidon. Three explosions that sounded like grenades went off, and there was a 15-minute burst of rifle and machine-gun fire outside El-Hilweh, a big Palestinian refugee camp that has been surrounded by army troops.

Sources in Beirut believed the shooting erupted when members of Saika, the guerrilla organization sponsored by Syria, ran into army troops while making their way from Rashaya, the scene of bitter fighting Sunday.

The Cairo communique said Arafat and Bustani agreed that "relations between Lebanon and the Palestinian revolution should be characterized with confidence, frankness and positive cooperation that would guarantee Lebanon's sovereignty, Palestinian interests and the goals of the entire Arab nation."

The agreement is aimed at ending a two-week-old Inter-Arab conflict in which about 100 persons have been killed and hundreds wounded.

Power Struggle Still on at L.R. Bank

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — After two sessions Monday of the Executive Board of the Union National Bank at Little Rock, there was still some question as to who had won out in the power struggle for the bank's top offices.

The Board of Directors voted last week to oust Harlen Lane as chairman of the board and Donald P. Couch as president. The vote was 6-5.

Monday, however, the Levitt Advertising Agency issued a statement saying Lane Couch were in their offices as usual. The statement said routine matters were to be conducted normally and that any special matters were to be channeled to Lane and Couch.

The board elected J. H. Bowen as the new president of the bank after the resignation of Rep. Charles Joelson, a Democrat. Republican nominee Eugene Boyle is a restaurant operator; Democrat Robert A. Roe is state conservation commissioner.

Pittsburgh is breaking with the log entrenched Democratic organization, spurned by independent Democrat Peter Flaherty. Republican John K. Tabor is bidding to become the first GOP mayor since 1933. Law and order, again, was a major campaign topic.

Buffalo's Democratic Mayor Frank A. Sedita faces a tough challenge from Mrs. Alfreda W. Slominski, a Republican-conservative, in another law and order campaign also tinged by debate over the busing of schoolchildren for racial balance.

In Saigon, President Nguyen Van Thieu, in a stout endorsement of Nixon's speech, declared in a statement: "I believe that the policy to end the war and restore a genuine peace to Vietnam, which President Nixon has recalled in his address today, is the right policy which conforms with our just Ben Hogan.

A spokesman for the Bowen supporters said the problem was that Lane and Couch did not believe the board had the authority to remove them from their positions.

Bowen refused to comment on the events that led to the ouster of Lane and Couch. He also said he was not sure that a stockholder meeting scheduled for Nov. 10 would be held. He said a fraction of the stockholders that back Couch and Lane had called the meeting.

Machinery in Action in South Schools

By DON MCKEE

Associated Press Writer

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Legal machinery is whirling into action for quick compliance with the Supreme Court's no-delay ruling on school desegregation. But it might be weeks—even months—before significant effects are felt in Dixie.

"We've worked all weekend preparing papers for filing in the courts," said Jack Greenberg, director of the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund which won the landmark ruling last week.

Greenberg, commanding a battery of lawyers in the South, said by telephone from his New York office that he thought the new decision would have heavy impact if applied to approximately 200 Southern cases in which the fund is involved. Fund lawyers in Atlanta filed a motion Monday seeking immediate desegregation of all Georgia schools.

But whether there will be significant changes across the South this school term is uncertain. For one thing, the volume of legal paper work means, Greenberg said, that it will take two weeks or more to file motions in even one-half the fund's cases. And for another thing, court cases take time.

Currently, an Associated Press survey indicates, about 30 per cent of the black pupils in 11 Southern states are attending schools with white children this term. Last term the figure was put at 20 per cent by federal officials.

The 33 Mississippi school districts directly involved in the Supreme Court ruling now face a deadline of Wednesday for submitting plans to "disestablish" dual school systems. In several other states, Greenberg's lawyers are preparing to seek similar orders, or already have done so.

First move toward applying the ruling outside of Mississippi

Explanation Asked of FDA on Some Drugs

By H. L. SCHWARTZ III
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank E. Moss today demanded the Food and Drug Administration explain why it has not acted to end the use in government hospitals of some drugs ruled dangerous and ineffective.

In a letter to FDA Commissioner Herbert L. Ley Jr., the Utah Democrat said testimony before his consumer subcommittee indicated at least four drugs marked ineffective or unsafe more than a year ago are still being stocked at Bethesda Naval and Walter Reed Army hospitals.

Moss wrote Ley after Theodore Cron, president of the American Patients Association, testified Monday the Bethesda hospital still stocks three drugs ordered off the market by the FDA and that Walter Reed has one such drug available.

But an FDA spokesman told a newsman Thursday all government hospitals had been told of drug safety rulings by the National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council.

But he said the FDA had no power to order a government hospital or another agency to stop using a drug.

Asked if the FDA had ever suggested government installations stop using a certain drug, the spokesman said:

"No. And we haven't asked them to do either."

"We have made all the information available and that's all we can do," the spokesman said.

Cron said Bethesda was still stocking the drug Panalba. The NAS has said Panalba is a combination of two antibiotics which is no more effective than one of its components alone.

The FDA has ordered the drug off the market but the Upjohn Co. of Kalamazoo, Mich., has so far been successful in blocking the action in court.

Cron also testified Bethesda also stocks mystecin-f, used against fungus, and several forms of raustrax, designed to correct fluid imbalances. The NAS has found both ineffective.

Officials of the Bethesda hospital or the Bureau of Naval Medicine could not be reached for comment.

U.S. Takes UN Lead to Keep Out Red China

By TOM HOGE
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States takes the floor in the U.N. General Assembly today to lead the annual fight to bar Peking from the United Nations. The Americans were confident they would have little trouble this year.

In line with a new policy of assigning the China speech to the member of Congress on the U.S. delegation, Rep. J. Irving Whalley, R-Pa., was to address the 126-nation assembly.

The U.S. government has made plain there is no change in its opposition to Peking's admission to the world organization despite President Nixon's overtures to improve relations with the Chinese Reds.

In his speech to the General Assembly Sept. 18, Nixon said he was ready to talk with the leaders of Communist China whenever they "choose to abandon their self-imposed isolation."

Shortly before Nixon spoke, U.S. Undersecretary of State Elliott L. Richardson said the conflict between Moscow and Peking would not deter the United States from trying to improve relations with the Chinese.

U.S. officials have contended that the isolation of Red China's leaders from the United Nations is their own doing. But many delegates are convinced that the isolation is due at least partly to the U.S. lobbying against a seat for Peking.

The reaffirmation of the two-thirds rule is expected to be approved by a vote of about 73-47.

Nixon argued his plan had to remain secret because he must adjust it to conditions in South Vietnam and possible progress at Paris. He said the progress in training South Vietnamese troops plus a decline in enemy infiltration and offensive action had enabled him to make a "more optimistic" withdrawal schedule now than he made last June.

At the same time he declared that "if the level of enemy activity significantly increases we might have to adjust our timetable accordingly." And in words specifically directed to Hanoi he issued this warning:

"If I conclude that increased enemy action jeopardizes our remaining forces in Vietnam, I shall not hesitate to take strong and effective measures to deal with that situation."

Throughout the speech—his first major address on Vietnam since May 14—Nixon appealed for support by the American people for the course he is following.

Since he conceded that "some of my fellow citizens disagree with the plan for peace I have chosen," his main effort evidently was to reinforce the backing he has and win any additional support possible.

Nixon's speech was timed approximately to the anniversary of the date—Nov. 1, 1968—when President Lyndon B. Johnson stopped all bombing of North Vietnam under an agreement to include South Vietnam and the Viet Cong in the Paris talks along with the U.S. and North Vietnam.

But the speech came midway between two peace demonstrations—one held in mid-October and one scheduled for mid-November. It also came after calls in Congress for fixing a deadline on removal of all U.S. troops from Vietnam and for trying to institute a cease fire.

Aides said that Nixon's program has two phases. The first phase they described as that of the timetable for removal of combat forces; the second phase would provide for removal of the rest—and air and supply and other support troops.

Cron also testified Bethesda also stocks mystecin-f, used against fungus, and several forms of raustrax, designed to correct fluid imbalances. The NAS has found both ineffective.

Nixon also said that soon after his election he made "two private offers for a rapid, comprehensive settlement" through an individual "who is directly in contact on a personal basis with the leaders of North Vietnam." He declared Hanoi's reply "called in effect for our surrender before negotiations."

Further, Nixon reported he and other officials had talked with Soviet representatives—presumably Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin—to get Soviet help in breaking out of the deadlock at Paris. They also talked with representatives of other government with diplomats in Hanoi.

"None of these initiatives," Nixon said, "have to date produced results."

Toward the end of the speech, Nixon addressed "the young people of this nation." He said he wanted peace as much as they did but to achieve it in a way which increases the chance that the young brothers and the sons of the men now fighting in Vietnam "will not have to fight in another Vietnam some place in the world."

Guards Asked to Stage a Counter March

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's 500,000 national guardsmen are being asked to participate in counter-demonstration against antiwar activities scheduled for mid-November.

Maj. Gen. Winston P. Wilson, chief of the National Guard Bureau, sent the appeal to state adjutants general, asking that between Nov. 11 and 16 guardsmen drive with automobile headlights on during the day, display American flags at their homes and leave porchlights burning around the clock.

Wilson said the counter-demonstration would show North Vietnam the nation is determined "to follow a prudent course in Vietnam."

Negroes Got Life on Rape Conviction

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP) — E. J. Butler of Forrest City, attorney for two Negro teenagers convicted of raping a 15-year-old white girl, filed a motion Monday for a new trial, but it was denied by Circuit Judge Elmo Taylor.

Butler immediately filed a motion for appeal of Taylor's denial.

The two youngsters, Jim Johnson, 19, of Forrest City, and Maurice Sanford, 17, of Detroit, Mich., were formally sentenced Monday to life in prison.

Both Johnson and Sanford were convicted Friday in St. Francis County Circuit Court of first-degree rape. The jury recommended life imprisonment with a mandatory 30-year confinement before being eligible for parole.

James E. Scott of Forrest City, another Negro youth, also faces trial on a charge of rape in the case. McKinley Green, 18, also of Forrest City, is to be tried for being an accessory in the alleged attack. The incident allegedly occurred Aug. 23 while the girl's companion was being held at knifepoint.

Simple solution to rising car prices.

The Simple Machine. Ford Maverick. Still $1995*

Our small car has scored a big success. And the reason is simple—solid value. Now, with other car prices going up all around it, Maverick is going its own Mavericky way. It still costs $1995* and that's still a small price to pay for a car that's simple to drive... simple to park... simple to service... simple to repair... and simple to own.

Simple to drive. Turn on the engine and you turn loose the power of 105 horses. Yet Maverick rivals the economy imports in gas mileage.

Simple to park. Maverick can U-turn in a tighter circle than the leading import. It can nip around corners and slide into tight parking spaces with amazing agility.

*Ford's suggested retail price for the car. White sidewall tires are not included; they are $32.00 extra. Since dealer preparation charges fit any transportation charges and state and local taxes vary, they are not included nor is extra equipment that is specially required by state laws.

$600 Personal Exemption Is Absurd

I t's all right with this editor for the government to keep on with extravagant political spending just as long as government attempts to make the people pay sufficient taxes—which wasn't the case until President Nixon took office.

Having inherited a debt-ridden regime from President Johnson Mr. Nixon asks for continuance of the income surtax while cutting down on expenditures—and I side with Nixon. How can any reasonable man side with the Democrats in calling for reduction or abolition of the surtax when it was the same Democrats whose wasteful political practices made enactment of the surtax necessary?

The surtax hurts all business in general and your editor in particular—but if you believe your country's interests come first this is no time to be repealing the tax. Repeal will have to wait until the day we are certain responsible government has gotten America out of her financial hole.

How can we claim to be a world power, with the ever-present threat of a third world war, when we can't keep our nation solvent in peace-time? After World War I we paid down the national debt so that we had the credit on which to fight World War II. But we did no such thing after World War II. We kept right on going into debt in peace-time—and today the world may well question our ability to fight a third war...unless we set our financial house in order.

I support the surtax, but on the other hand simple justice requires that we revise the small man's tax burden on the personal exemption front. The exemption assumes you can maintain a human being on $600 a year—an assumption unchanged for a generation. Yet in today's inflationary hour yesterday's $600 is worth only $200 in buying power—an absurd and heartless situation.

The Nixon administration opposes increasing the $600 exemption, but its position is wrong and will have to be changed. Democrats are pushing for a change, but this comes with little grace from an outfit which did nothing about it in the generation it held the White House.

Your editor is a bachelor, but in behalf of all the families of America I say the present $600 personal exemption is an outrage. By inflation standards it ought to be $1,800—and the damage to the budget repaired be taxes in another category.

Plane Forced to Cuba by Hijacker

MIAMI (AP) — A Lanica Airlines jet was hijacked over Central America today and forced to fly toward Cuba, officials of the line said here. It was the first act of sky piracy against the Nicaraguan carrier.

A BAC-111 was commanded between Managua, Nicaragua and El Salvador about 10 a.m. EST, Lanica officials said.

The aircraft departed Miami at 7 a.m. Following a stopover at El Salvador it was scheduled to continue to Mexico City.

Airline officials in Miami did not have the number of persons aboard. The BAC-111 has a capacity of 74 passengers.

Explosion Is Fatal to One

Cause of the fire was not known.

Thinks Nixon at His Best

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller says President Nixon was "at his best" Monday night in his nationwide television speech on the Vietnam war.

"I trust that the other millions of Americans who saw and heard him... shared with me this same feeling of pride and confidence in our president," Rockefeller said in a prepared statement.

Lindsey Is Favored in New York

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

New Yorkers elect a mayor today, with disowned Republican John V. Lindsay heavily favored to win the re-election which once seemed beyond his reach. GOP challengers seek to capture the governorships of Virginia and New Jersey, where Democrats now rule.

Those are the feature races in off-year elections which could signal the mood of the voter in cities dismayed by rising crime rates and racial tensions, and in two states where President Nixon intervened personally for the Republican campaigners.

A major imponderable: The polling place impact of Nixon's polluting report on Vietnam, with his word of a secret timetable for the withdrawal of all American ground combat troops.

Disclosure of a major breakthrough or a dramatic new peace move undoubtedly would have proven a boon to Republicans in the two states electing governors.

Nixon's restatement of administration policy is unlikely to be a major election day factor, although the nationwide appearance itself could prove of some benefit to Virginian Linwood Holtot and New Jersey's William T. Cahill, the Republicans for whom he campaigned.

William C. Battle, the son of former governor and once U.S. ambassador to Australia, is the Democratic nominee in Virginia, carrying the credentials of a party which has held the governorship there for 83 years.

In New Jersey, former Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner has criticized Nixon policies, including those in Vietnam, but the war-issue has not caught on, and the campaign has been largely one of personal invective.

Antiwar Demonstrators Turn Their Backs on Yippie-planned March

By KEN HARTNETT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leaders of the massive antiwar demonstration planned for Nov. 15 have turned their backs on a Yippie-sponsored march on the Justice Department that same day.

Not only won't the leaders of the New Mobilization Committee endorse the Yippie action, they decided against mentioning it at a rally capping the antiwar march.

The rally is expected to end in late afternoon. The Yippie march, designed to protest the federal conspiracy trial now in progress in Chicago, is expected to begin shortly after the rally ends.

March leaders say they expect a half million people to join in the antiwar protest.

"When it ends, we will tell our people to board their buses and go home," said Ted Johnson, a spokesman for the New Mobe.

The Yippie action, he said, is not a sponsored action by the New Mobilization; neither does the New Mobilization take any responsibility for it, nor will it urge people to participate in it.

The decision to avoid endorsement of the Justice Department action came at a stormy weekend meeting at Chicago.

There, the tensions besetting the uneasy coalition of radicals and moderates united against the war, bubbled to the surface.

The Yippies, including Abbie Hoffman and Jerry Rubin, planned the Justice Department action to focus on the Chicago conspiracy trial stemming from disorders during the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

Both Hoffman and Rubin are defendants in the trial, along with six others, including David Dellinger, national co-chairman of the New Mobilization.

Radical elements, including factions within the Students for a Democratic Society, believe that by focussing on the conspiracy trial as well as directly on the war, they can put a more radical stamp on the demonstration.

New Mobe leaders want to keep the focus directly on the war and are afraid that any departure from a controlled, disciplined and peaceful march could seriously damage the peace movement.
